September 2024
Portfolio Objective:
Inception Date: 02.01.24

The MKC Invest Fossil Fuel Focus portfolio 4 aims to provide long-term capital growth from a diversified portfolio of collective investments. All selected holdings will be mandated to reduce meaningfully their underlying exposures to primary ("Scope 1") fossil fuel emissions, accepting that all listed businesses are likely to produce emissions in some forms. The portfolio will be managed such that its overall level of investment risk will be suitable for, and in line with the expectations of, an investor at level 4 on the MKC "Baseline" scale of investment risk. The portfolio aims to outperform (net of any investment related costs but not necessarily net of any costs relating to advice or custody) this strategic asset allocation over the course of a market cycle through tactical active asset allocation and the selection of predominantly actively managed funds from a range of investment managers. The selection of such managers will be unconstrained to any particular firm(s) but must meet the Fossil Fuel Emissions criteria set out above.

Market Overview:

September was a positive month for both equities and bonds, as the US Federal Reserve (Fed) delivered its anticipated interest rate cut. The size of the reduction was somewhat surprising, especially given stronger economic data, which suggested that concerns about a recession in August were overstated. This has increased the likelihood of a "soft landing" for the US economy. While US rates are generally trending downward, there is considerable debate about the pace of future reductions.

In Europe, softer inflation and a slowing economy prompted the European Central Bank (ECB) to reduce interest rates for the second time in this cycle, and it seems likely they will ease further before the end of the year.

In the UK, the Bank of England (BOE) remains cautious due to persistent inflation. Following a 0.25% rate reduction in August, members voted 8 to 1 to keep rates unchanged in September. Although inflation persists, GDP figures released at the end of the month indicated that the economy is slowing, which may influence the Monetary Policy Committee's decisions when they meet on the 7th of November.

In the last week of September, the People's Bank of China announced a significant package of measures aimed at boosting the country's struggling economy. The scale of this stimulus was unexpected, causing the previously underperforming Shanghai Index to rise by over 20%, which also positively impacted emerging markets.

Portfolio performance has been calculated using Morningstar Direct and is believed accurate based on the standard pricing of any underlying investment funds held in the portfolio. In some cases, clients may benefit from additional discounts to those same funds on their chosen custody platform. This will cause differences between actual performance and the performance calculated by Morningstar. We expect in all cases that these differences, where present, will be to investors' advantage.
